Mobile handwash stations that need no mains water service or drainage connections.

The beauty and aesthetics range

Professionals in the beauty industry need to maintain a reputation for high standards and excellence in hygiene.

This is why it's important that they have constant access to hand washing facilities.

With 80% of bacteria and diseases spread by touch, there are high risks of cross-contamination between clients and practitioner and their tools which makes good hand hygiene essential.

Access to running water is often overlooked due to the use of single-use gloves and sanitisers but these are renowned for being much less effective at achieving proper hand hygiene than simple soap and clean water.

The CliniWash

The CliniWash needs no mains water supply. The automatic sensor starts a wash and rinse cycle which results in a highly efficient use of water.

Available colours

The HandSpa
